Lighting and Light-Metering for New Photographers

West Photo presents a class for new DSLR photographers who want to avoid bad habits and start their businesses on the right foot. Taught by professional photographer Christopher Grey, author of Master Lighting Guide for Portrait Photographers and numerous other books, this class will give you the knowledge you need to:

- Calibrate your light meter to your camera for optimum exposure.
- Place your key light and modifier in the proper place.
- Properly place and meter hair and background lights.
- Correctly meter a profile.
- Choose the correct modifier for the look you want.
- Create beautiful portraits with just one light!
- Choose the correct Color Space for the job you're doing.
- Choose RAW or jpeg – which is correct for your job?
- Custom White Balance – an extremely important step!
- And much more!
